

COMMUNITY UPDATE

APOLOGY FOR NOISE DISTURBANCE

2nd February 2022

Dear Community Member

On behalf of ExxonMobil Fawley, I want to offer our sincere apologies for any noise disruption caused by the start-up of one of our units yesterday afternoon.

The unit in question is our COGEN combined heat and power unit, which provides power to both the national grid and our site, and was being brought back into operation after maintenance.

We are taking action to address the associated noise by installing a new state of the art silencer. Currently on schedule to be installed in the summer, we are confident this will deliver a noticeable improvement for local residents.

We are absolutely committed to minimising any community impact from our operations, but again please accept our apologies for any disruption caused on this occasion.

Regards
